

GMDR is based in Switzerland, acts as an international motorsport driver management company and accompanies and advises professional motorsport racing drivers on their way to the top around the world.

Motorsport, marketing, strategy development and people are what you are passionate about?

If you like to help shape the growth in a dynamic, internationally active environment in motorsports, waiting an exciting challenge for you!

We are looking for a self-employed Country Manager

GMDR establishes an independent agency relationship with the "Country Manager" to recruit and support young racing drivers in the contract area. The "Country Manager" is not an employee of GMDR.

Job Overview:

- Acquisition and expansion of the GMDR agency in your country
- As a motorsport manager and talent scout, you are looking for new talent in lower series in your country (Karting, Formula 4, etc.)
- You negotiate with the driver or the driver's environment and bring the driver to GMDR
- Together with the global headquarters, we accompany and support racing drivers on their way to the top
- We create and develop sponsoring opportunities for a great win-win situation between companies and racing drivers
- As a unit, we negotiate the best possible contracts with racing teams and try to send the young racing drivers into an F1 junior program
- Together with the global headquarter, we give the racing drivers the best possible support

Why you? Because you have a lot to offer:

- Strong communication and sales skills are must-haves
- Good network in motorsport
- Several years of professional experience in motorsport or sport management
- Profound theoretical as well as practical knowledge in sport marketing, digital marketing, content management and journalism
- Flexibility, structured and solution-oriented way of thinking and working
- Willingness to travel
- Fluent in English (in words and writing)

Why us? Because we have a lot to offer!

- Personal support in all activities for GMDR
- Connection you to a huge global motorsport network
- Space to grow your own ideas
- Room for personal development (national and international)
- Direct exchange with the racing drivers and the headquarters
- We rely on flat hierarchies and fast decision-making processes
- You could work on exiting projects for the stars of tomorrow in international motorsport
- High earning potential

Sounds interesting? Then we should get to know each other!
